

except you.

Everyone can save
our environment,

except you.

In our lifetime we have seen a shift towards crisis in the world we live in. Years from now we will be the ones left to survive in an over-populated, resource-deprived and unstable environment. If you don't care about trees, you should still care about you. Be the exception, engage our political system >> exceptyou.com

Everyone can influence
political candidates,

except you.

Politicians don't campaign to people who don't vote. They don't care what you think of them or the way they run the nation. As far as they're concerned young non-voters are a waste of their time. And they're right. When you don't vote, you don't count. Be the exception, engage our political system >> exceptyou.com

Everyone can shape
our economy,

except you.

We buy electronics, vehicles, entertainment products, you name it. All of that is part of the economic system. Shouldn't the most powerful consumer demographic in the country have a say in the way it works? Right now all you are is a dollar sign. Be the exception, engage our political system >> exceptyou.com

Everyone can advise
our military,

except you.

If you haven't noticed we're at war. Somewhere in another part of the world people your age, from your town, with your views, are fighting and dying. Whether you believe in what is going on or not, you may very soon be a part of it. Be the exception, engage our political system >> exceptyou.com

Everyone can secure
our future,

except you.

Our government is currently spending what used to be your social security. They're not spending it on the education system or social reform programs. Aren't you just a little bit curious where all of your money is going?
Be the exception, engage our political system >> exceptyou.com

Everyone counts,
except you.

A lot of people believe that our voting system is flawed. They believe that the electoral college is out-dated, the count is fixed, and the system and its officials are corrupt. All of that is probably true. But your vote is your only voice. If you want change, speak up. Be the exception, engage our political system >> exceptyou.com